HOW TO LIVE IN THE FUTURE AND NEVER GET LOST

FOREWORD

“Looking back from the future is the best way to progress forward.” Dehors Debonneheure

Do you know how to think ahead of time? What kind of knowledge do you need to have in order to be able to tell what is going to happen next? This sort of foreknowledge is only available to people who think like Lyndon LaRouche. That is why the change to a new paradigm, which is presently taking place, is right on time because everybody now has the opportunity to make this new discovery in time.

The way to access this new time frame is to understand what the nature of the old paradigmatic system was about and why it is currently falling apart of its own accord. Everything around you is collapsing and nothing appears to be working because the validity of the present form of liberal-democratic government has come to an end. Trump has taken the route that he is on, because he knows something about the future that most people don't even want to inquire about.

As outrageous as it may appear to be, the recent comparison that Gerry Rose made of Jeanne d'Arc and Donald Trump is an appropriate one, because in both cases, the beneficiary is Humanity. “Trump is a Jeanne d'Arc-inspired man with a big EGO”; and therefore, he is willing to take chances and even to die for what he knows to be the truth for the benefit of all of mankind. “I don't want advantage, I want PEACE,” Trump said to Zelensky.

In fact, he has a plan to put an end to the stupid and evil warfare of the past. I raise my glass to this unusual plan, because more and more people are beginning to discover how the nature of this new paradigm, that Lyndon LaRouche was the first to discover in 1952, is teasing their minds as they peek through the clouds of the immediate nuclear danger ahead.

THE SPECIAL MOMENT WE ARE LIVING IN

The special moment we are living in is a matter of time; that is, a matter of the extension of our minds into a higher dimensionality which calls for the discovery of a new form of knowledge dominated by the future, a future in which we know in advance that the past is going to be changed, axiomatically, at the same time that the same future becomes permanently established into the present in a new form of mental temporality that LaRouche called simultaneity of temporal eternity. Therefore, let this new temporal eternity concept simply be the hook which catches your attention and invites you to participate into that prevailing wind which brought Trump and Putin together and is changing history by saving your life from the danger of nuclear war. Be thankful that both leaders have discovered a unique solution to what threatens the human species.

More and more people are beginning to internalize the significance of Lyndon LaRouche's discovery of that new paradigmatic domain that he identified as time reversal of temporal eternity; that is, by realizing that, from now on, the new world being born is located for all times to come in a universally accepted commitment for the benefit of human survival and nothing else. That is the decision that both Putin and Trump are currently making and which will succeed in spite of all of the mistaken decisions that NATO and its allies are making.

WHAT TRUMP, PUTIN, AND XI JINPING CAN ACCOMPLISH TOGETHER

Today, Trump, Putin, and Xi Jinping are expected to agree on what should determine the future of mankind. For example, the one and a half hour discussion between Trump and Putin on stopping the war in Ukraine, because Zelensky is nothing but a puppet, is visible for everyone to see. This poses immediately the question of what can Zelensky do but to follow what NATO says, because this surrogate war is entirely run by his NATO (British) puppet master. However, what must be identified more and more clearly to the public is that it is Global NATO which is the real NAZI problem behind the Zelensky charade. It is the British-run NATO ideologues that must be identified as the enemies of Europe ever since the American Revolution. It is British Oligarchical colonialism that is bringing Putin and Trump together.<sup>1</sup>

The future relationship between Russia and Western Europe is the point of contention that must be resolved between Trump and Putin which will be the cement that will solidify the deal between them. That is how to think about the future of mankind in terms of temporal eternity and for the benefit of the other; this is how to resolve the paradox of the British-Nazi-Liberal-Democracy.

Do the following test. What do you do when all of your Palestinian neighbors are getting killed, systematically, one after the other, simply because someone else wants their land? Mankind cannot live with that. You cannot find that morally acceptable; something has to be done to stop the killing. What do you do? Do you kill back? No. You must find a way to change the underlying axiomatic assumption causing that systematic killing, and change your own way of thinking about the survival of mankind. That is what Lyndon LaRouche proposed as a higher hypothesis when he wrote the following solution in his January 1997 report: “Return to the Machine-Tool Principle”:

“Summarily, the application of the Socratic dialectical method to any mutually not-inconsistent array of propositions in geometry, leads to adducing an underlying set of definitions, axioms, and postulates. All possible propositions which are not inconsistent with each and all of the set of definitions, axioms, and postulates, constitute a theorem-lattice; the set of definitions, axioms, and postulates, so employed, constitutes an hypothesis. There is no system of mathematical, or other thought, which is not determined, so, by an efficiently determining, underlying hypothesis.

“In economics, as in experimental physics generally, any fact of nature which cannot be made efficiently consistent with existing generally accepted physical assumptions, constitutes a paradox: the fact exists, in stubborn defiance of pre-existing opinion’s most hysterical efforts to deny the very possibility of its existence. Such paradoxes are the stuff of which valid experimental physics, and economics, is made. [...]

“The leading oligarchical intelligentsias are not so ignorant as to believe, themselves, what they would have our Congress, and you, to believe. They know that our form of economy has worked brilliantly, and would do so again; they know that their neo-Malthusian model is an economic catastrophe; but, they also know, that under a successful society, the power of parasitical oligarchies to rule the nation and world would soon come to an end. They would prefer “to reign in Hell, [rather] than be a mere citizen in Heaven.”<sup>2</sup>

So, what do you do when you are confronted with such an inevitability? If you are an oligarch, there is no choice in the matter, because, one way or the other, your goose is cooked. Which way are you going to go? Let’s see how The Economist responded to Trump’s decision in its lead article titled: “How Europe Must Respond as Trump and Putin Smash the Post-War Order”:

“Europe’s urgent task is to relearn how to acquire and wield power; it must be prepared to confront adversaries and sometimes friends, including America.... It needs to use [its] resources to reinvigorate growth, rearm and assert itself. [...] Talks must start on how Britain and France can use their nuclear weapons to shield the continent. [...] Europe’s worst nightmare is bigger than Ukraine. Mr. Trump intends to rehabilitate Russia’s president, Vladimir Putin, ditching a long-standing policy to isolate him. Without any obvious geopolitical benefit to America, he is angling to restore diplomatic relations. He may soon be feted at a glitzy summit...”<sup>3</sup>

Thus, the British are willing to have a nuclear conflict with Russia. That is as stupid as it can get. How far are you going to let this British nuclear madness go? This is a desperate call to arms by a flawed oligarchy that is willing to sacrifice the whole of humanity in order to maintain its power. If they get the chance, they will go all the way to extinction. They know it and they are committed to it, because they refuse to see any alternative to their failed system and they know they cannot survive.

CONCLUSION: DISCOVERING THE FUTURE AS PREESTABLISHED HARMONY OF TIME-REVERSAL

Discovering a balance of reciprocal benefits within one humanity is why, in substance, Leibniz wrote about his principle of preestablished harmony:

“It is good to give an example. Let us take in order the numbers: 0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 etc. and then their squares: 0 1 4 9 16 25 36 49 64 81 100 etc., and the differences between these squares: 1 3 5 7 9 11 13 15 17 19 etc. We find that the differences between the squares of the numbers taken in order are the odd numbers, again in order; and after having tested a long sequence of numbers, and found that this holds good, we justifiably presume that it will always continue to hold good to infinity; but we do not thereby see either the necessity or the cause of it, which depends on certain demonstrative reasons taken from the source, or a priori. Souls capable of these reasonings are called ‘minds,’ and it can be rightly said of them that they are made in the image of God, and that there is a society between God and them, so that with regard to them, God is not only what an architect is to his building, but also what a Prince is to his subjects.”<sup>4</sup>

How do you construct a model for a preestablished-harmony time-reversal module? Here is a geometrical model which will carry past time with your present moment as you go into the future, step by step. Construct a modular torus as in Figure 1 and carry numbers as time units of action into it in such a way that you bring the past with you as you go under and over the next future step, one step at a time, as in the following series: 0, 1, (1) 2, (1, 2) 3, (1, 2, 3) 4, (1, 2, 3, 4), 5, etc. Identify that succession as a Galactic process of doubly-connected-cyclical-torus- action, where every step taken is different while all of them are the same; that is, as Heraclites said where “change alone is unchanging:”

The four sets of even and odd modules below (Figure 2.) are reducible to the single module (Figure 1.) whose eight odd reciprocals  $1+31$ ,  $3+29$ ,  $5+27$ ,  $7+25$ ,  $9+23$ ,  $11+21$ ,  $13+19$ ,  $15+17$ , are all equal to 32. This is how I see the way to resolve the problem of understanding the idea of “One Humanity First” with the geometry of time-numbers; that is where only reciprocity does not change; reciprocity being the same everywhere. This is where the resolution of a national security and development architecture is located.

All of the numbers in Figure 2 represent individual units of action that go and change to infinity, but within the same principle of reciprocity. Subtract all of the odd numbers of the left modules from the even numbers of the right modules and put all their totals in the same reciprocal units of module (Figure 1). As in the case of whole numbers viewed from temporal eternity, no matter how different human beings may appear to be, they are all the same. That's what reciprocity means.

This Galactic temporal eternity cycle works in such a way that, if you wish your society to grow each step of the way, you must stop all wars and bring the past forward into a new empty space for the benefit of the future. This is the creative power of the principle of change that the Chinese people have been using for centuries from their I Ching (Book of Changes), which is the ancient Chinese text that originally provided crucial insights into changes of personal growth, inter-personal relationships, and long range political decision making. This is also in agreement with Plato's principle of the "good" for mankind and with Zhang Weiwei's principle of China as a "civilizational state."<sup>5</sup> FIN
